

PHILIPPINE BANK IN BETTER SHAPE

American Control and Loans
Liquidation Policies Are Successful.

MANILA, Oct. 26.—The "liquidation of loans" policy instituted in the Philippine National Bank by its manager, E. W. Wilson, is believed to have made an exceedingly favorable impression on United States authorities.

The policy consists of these doctrines: Go slow; get potentially good enterprises on their feet instead of forcing failure; renew loans if payments have been made; get as large payments as possible, and increase the security when practicable, and working on this basis, depend upon time, good crops and good volume of exports. Control of imports is also being handled. These policies, if followed, it is declared, will put the bank in a position where a change in charter will make practicable greater aid to agriculture or any other enterprise which the bank may wish to espouse and which the government, which owns it, may favor.

He has been working along these lines since January, 1921, and when the report of Haskins and Sells, made for the Woods-Forbes mission, reached Manila and was published, in extract, in the press, during the four months the report had been in preparation much improvement in the bank's position had been made. The $20,000,000 loan on sugar plantations and mills is now, it is believed, all to be repaid, although repayment will cover several years. The coconut oil mills, which may be $15,000,000, are being tackled next.

In both cases it is reorganization and liquidation of expense, reduced cost of operation and of manufacture of efficiency instead of careless methods and waste that "got by" during the war and the post armistice boom. It is understood that Wilson's report, expected about January 1, will show that the bank's ultimate losses will not approach those estimated by the Wood-Forbes mission.

Governor-General Wood has reorganized the directorate of the bank, which is now in experienced American hands. The positions of some of its big customers are better each day. Of these, one is the bank of the Philippine Islands, also in competent American hands. The reserve of this bank have been raised to a point well above the legal requirements, and its account with the National is being reduced.

The Manila Railroad is making money and paying off its debts. It, too, is in American hands.

Wiggly Pillow Found to Contain Big Snake

POMEROY, O., Oct. 26.—After filling a pillow from a box of old feathers in an outhouse, Mrs. Kinsey Durst, living near Letart, placed the pillow on her little son's bed. For several days the child complained that his pillow was "wiggly." Finally his mother opened it. She found a big black snake among the feathers.

The lad now refuses to use any pillow at all.

SATURDAY HAS STAR FOOTBALL OFFERING ALL OVER COUNTRY

Best Mid-Season Attractions in History of Game Draw Thousands.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(I. N. S. Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Although it is not our wish to take issue with an old world tradition purporting to prove that all roads lead to Mecca, it is nevertheless a conviction that as far as the coming Saturday is concerned, dear Mecca has not a chance. On that occasion, traffic will be diverted toward Chicago, New Haven, Philadelphia, Boston, Atlanta, Ann Arbor, Minneapolis and the Polo Grounds, New York, for eight of the finest football attractions ever given to a mid-season schedule within the memory of gridiron historians. No October Saturday has ever seen the like of it before.

Regardless of what section of the country you may favor with your presence, a football spectacle is at your elbow. If you are a New Englander, you can jump down to New Haven to see the army play Yale or up to Boston to watch Harvard and Dartmouth. If the midwest claims you, the great inter-collegiate meeting of Princeton and Chicago at Chicago, or the conference battle between Michigan and Illinois at Ann Arbor are available to say nothing of the fact that Minnesota plays Ohio State at Minneapolis. If you happen to hail from the middle states, an overnight trip will take you to Philadelphia for the Penn-Navy game; if it's New York, then the Polo Grounds and the meeting of Penn State and Syracuse is a half hour distant via the underground. Down in the fried ham belt, the attraction is Georgia Tech and Notre Dame at Atlanta, leaving only the west coast to be accounted for. There, for reasons obscure, a one day draught seems to have taken hold.

WITH THE BIG TEN

AT CHICAGO.
Scalpers are asking $100 for a single seat at the Chicago-Princeton game. The Maroons drove to perfect the defense behind closed gates.

AT NORTHWESTERN.
Capt. Jimmy Patterson was back in the scrimmage Thursday for first time since the Chicago game. The drill was snappy and the first string scored six touchdowns.

AT ILLINOIS.
Illinois left for Detroit Thursday where the squad will make its headquarters until the Michigan game Saturday. Rube Clark, first string quarterback was still on the hospital list and it looked as though George Dawson would be called on to pilot the team.

AT MICHIGAN.
Yost sent his men through a stiff scrimmage Thursday working out a number of new plays which he hopes will baffle the Illinois defense.

AT OHIO STATE.
Thirty-six men were in the squad which was on its way for the Minnesota game at Minneapolis, Saturday. Every man was in good condition.

AT MINNESOTA.
Coaches were plugging away at the defense Thursday. With a strong attack the entire scrimmage was given over to perfecting a strong forward wall.

AT INDIANA.
Although several of the varsity players are still on the sick list the first string managed to present a strong attack against the scrubs in scrimmage. They scored several touchdowns. It was hoped that most of the cripples would be back for the Notre Dame clash.

success against the Henry Ford, American challenger, and Capt. Clayton Morrissey and his crew of Gloucester men. The margin was one of seven minutes, 51 seconds about the same as the Blue Nose lead of yesterday.

While the Gloucester boat, in fact, won two races, the first was declared unofficial.

AT WISCONSIN.
The Badgers were taking it easy. The first scrimmage of the week was held Wednesday and another was scheduled for Thursday. The defense was instructed how to break up both Minnesota and Illinois plays.

AT IOWA.
Secret practice with the scrubs using the Purdue plays was the order of the day. Iowa is taking no chances as a result of the Chicago game in which Purdue held the Maroons to a 12-0 score.

Chicago Prepares for Tigers' Overhead Attack
CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Perfection of the defense against an open attack which Chicago coaches believe Princeton will launch Saturday continued at Sarge field today.

The work was carried on behind closely guarded gates. Princeton alumnus, who will meet here tomorrow, are planning a warm reception on the "team" when it arrives. The old grads plan to meet the special train from Princeton and escort the team to their hotel.

Scouts of Princeton grads were poured into the city today and a mad search for tickets was started. Scouts, despite the efforts of authorities, held some seats at $100.

SCHOONER BLUE NOSE IS AGAIN CHAMPION
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 26.—(By A. P.)—The schooner Blue Nose of Canada is again champion of the international fishing fleets. Capt. Angus Walters and his fellow-Lunenburgers today scored a second

A Stoneham, president of the club, was preparing to dispose of his controlling interest in the team.

PARIS TO 'DANCE IN MORGUE' SAYS PAPER
PARIS, Oct. 24.—"Soon we will dance in the Morgue."

So says Le Peuple this morning concerning the prospective moving of the Morgue and the fact that a dance hall will take its place.

"Bright lights in place of amber ones, and identification numbers for hats and coats instead of for bodies will be some of the changes."

PRINCETON, N. J.—Johnny Gorman, substitute quarterback, will direct the Princeton team against Chicago Saturday. Coach Roper announced, Crum, Cleaves and either Caldwell or Emery will make up the backfield. The squad left Thursday for Chicago.

CHICAGO—Because Arnold Stutz batted only 297 instead of 300 the Chicago Cubs saved $10,000. In the deal with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific coast league for the young outfielder, the Cubs agreed to add $10,000 to the purchase price if he finished the season as a .300 hitter.

NEW YORK—Officials of the New York Giants announced there was no truth in the report that Charles
